

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An electronic device includes: a circuit board, at least part of the circuit board being formed of two or more types of semiconductor chips having different functions,
5 arranged so as not to overlap, and fixed to each other; and a plurality of operating elements formed over the circuit board.